

Lukasz Napora is no obscure name on the Polish music scene. He's been a very active journalist working for various media outlets for nearly 15 years now. Along with his brother, he used to run one of Poland's most prestigious music sites called Sound Revolt, which due to its bilinguality was a great contact point between the local scene and foreign labels and artists.

Today, he is mainly recognised for his work at Audioriver – one of the World's top summer festivals according to Resident Advisor. He's the spokesperson, marketing director and is co-responsible for the program of this event. You can also hear him every Thursday on Polish Radio 4 where he presents two hours of his music selection.

Over the years Lukasz has interviewed a vast scope of artists from Hernan Cattaneo, Timo Maas, Richie Hawtin, Luciano, Dubfire, James Holden, Moderat, DJ Hell through Tiesto, Fedde Le Grand, Sebastian Ingrosso, Kosheen, Groove Armada to Sepultura, Alice In Chains, Rammstein, Editors, Alan Wilder, Yeasayer and White Lies. This diversity reflects his taste in music – broad and practically without borders.

Lukasz is also an active club DJ performing regularly all around Poland. Moreover, he released two singles in the past but the proper ones are still in the works so watch this space.